Securing a Free State The 2nd Amendment Project

Project by Jennifer Nelson

A cross-disciplinary workshop in collaboration with the psychology, athletics, and visual arts departments, with the assistance of campus security.

Dr. Nikolaos Takis, clinical psychologist, and certified trainer in Psychodrama
Kandia Bouzioti, Music Therapist, Music/Vocal Psychotherapist
Dimitris Giannoukos in collaboration with Dimitris Katsafados and their Tae Kwon Do exhibition team
Michalis Orontis, Director of Operations, ACG DERE

What does security mean for you personally? What are you afraid of? And how do you recover a sense of security, and freedom, after experiencing a violent event? What does security look like in a public or institutional context? Join us for a 3 day workshop to learn basic self-defense, meditate on psychological security, and question our assumptions about the paradigms of violence and nonviolence.

Jennifer Nelson's work on this project began at the Arizona State University Art Museum where she worked with trauma survivors, trauma therapists, members of law enforcement, firearms trainers, and trainers in nonviolent communication and nonviolent protest during a 6-week residency.

Workshop dates:

May 18, 13:30- 14:30

May 25, 13:30- 14:30

June 1, 13:30- 14:30

Studio 3 in the athletics department. Please wear comfortable clothes and shoes for self-defense training.
